Vital soils are essential for our future – and an authentic wine taste. Biodynamic soils are activated by a huge number of microorganisms. This is an important strategy for the future in times of climate change: Demeter soils have high humus contents, possess a good water-holding capacity and an optimal soil structure, which means they are well-prepared for both droughts and heavy rainfalls. But the soil microorganisms are equally important for expressing the authentic taste of the wines' origins.

// This quote from Albert Einstein expresses a lot of what I feel about biodynamics: “Look deep into nature and then you will understand everything better”. This seems very logical to me. The more you understand what is happening around you, the easier it is for you to find balance.

Vitality is something that can be transferred to the products from their origins. We are often told that biodynamic vineyards have a special energy – as do the wines that grow there. Many wine connoisseurs report that these wines not only have a special depth of flavour and complexity, the wines also touch them in a special way while drinking them. These wines reveal themselves to those who enjoy them in a way that ensures they will never forget them.

// For me “vitality” is something at the heart of the soul’s “energy”, as it is feeding our souls. My wines not only delight the palate, they also feed the soul of the one drinking.

Ricardo Peñalba Pérez de Albéniz, Finca Torremilanos, Spain

Arbeiten im lebendigen Rhythmus: Jedes Wesen folgt von der Natur vorgegebenen Rhythmen. Die Rebe lebt stark im „Sonnenrhythmus“, das heißt sie richtet ihre Entwicklungsphasen am Lauf der Sonne über das Jahr aus. Wo sinnvoll, beziehen Demeter-Winzer:innen natürliche Rhythmen in ihre Arbeit ein.

// Ich bin Rebenbegleiterin vom Wachstum der ersten Blätter bis zur Reife der Trauben. Im Rhythmus der Reben entsteht auf unseren lebendigen Böden eine unverwechselbare Wein-Individualität.

Auf die inneren Werte kommt es an: Vielfältige und stabile Ökosysteme bringen die ausdrucksstärksten Weine hervor. Reben, Menschen, Pflanzen und Tiere wirken in biodynamischen Weinbergen zusammen. Die hohe Traubenqualität wird durch interventionsarme Verarbeitung bewahrt, um diese besondere Lebendigkeit in die Flasche zu bringen. Das schmeckt man!
